EDUCATION

[TABLES 1 TO 10, PAGES 5 TO 119]

(Compiled from the Annual Reports on Public Instruction received from Local Governments and Administrations)

For the definitions of the terms used in the tables, as given in the Bengal Education Code, see the eleventh issue of the Judicial and Administrative Statistics.

Number of Students

Table No. 1. The total number of scholars in public and private institutions in British India in 1906-07 was 5,400,293. This represents an increase of 1,115,247 in the last decade, being at the rate of 26 per cent. Male scholars numbered 4,777,366 as compared with 3,884,337 ten years ago, and females numbered 622,927 as compared with 400,709. The increase is at the rate of 23 per cent in the case of male scholars and 55 per cent in the case of female scholars.

Number and Classification of Schools and Colleges

Tables Nos. 2 and 3. The total number of institutions in 1906-07 was 162,690, of which 150,220 were for males and 12,470 for females. The total number of villages served by these schools is 581,173, and the number of towns, i.e., places containing 5,000 inhabitants or upwards, is 1,605. Thus, each institution for males serves nearly 4 towns and villages, and each institution for females serves nearly 47 towns and villages. The number of students in each class of school or college classified according to the description of education imparted therein is as follows:

		1897-98	1906-07
UNIVERSITY EDUCATION—
Arts colleges:
English	Students	14,557	18,329

Public Primary schools	"	3,108,914	3,940,706
Private Elementary schools	"	505,296	541,812

The total number of scholars, omitting those in Baluchistan, are as follows:

	Males	Females
Colleges, Secondary schools, Special schools, and Private Advanced schools	803,580	67,278
Primary schools and Private Elementary schools	3,971,792	555,212

Thus of the total number of male scholars nearly 17 per cent are undergoing higher education and over 10 per cent of female scholars.

The percentage of students to the population of school-going age, which is taken as 15 per cent of the total population, was 26 per cent in the case of males and 3·5 per cent in the case of females.

The increase in the number of students at Public Primary schools in the last decade has been at the rate of 27 per cent, and the increase in the case of Private Elementary schools has been at the rate of 7 per cent. The attendance at Secondary schools including Private Advanced schools has increased by 25 per cent in the same period. The Middle Vernacular schools have in the last four years recovered their position as compared with the Middle English schools. In 1902-03 the total number of scholars in the Middle English schools was 181,836 as compared with 130,124 at the Middle Vernacular schools. The latter have always been more largely attended by girls than either the Middle English schools or the High schools. Girls attending Middle Vernacular schools in 1906-07 numbered 26,663 as compared with 28,637 attending High schools and Middle English schools combined.

Schools for Special instruction extend over a wide range of subjects, and their total number has increased from 459 to 2,326 in the last decade. The number of students has, at the same time, increased from 24,084 to 68,116. The number of students of the law schools has decreased from 514 to 77, and the students of engineering and surveying schools has also declined from 1,194 to 1,120. In technical and industrial schools the increase has been from 3,206 to 6,820.

Stages of Instructions in Public Schools

Table No. 4. The total number of scholars on the rolls of the general public schools, both secondary and primary, on the 31st March 1907, included 4,081,477 boys and 574,979 girls. Of these about 60 per cent of the boys and girls were in the lower primary stage reading printed books, and about 33 per cent of the girls were in a still lower stage not reading printed books.

Results of University Examination

Table No. 5. The English Arts colleges contain 72 per cent of the total number of students undergoing university education. This is slightly less than the proportion ten years ago. The Oriental Arts colleges shew a very marked rise in the number of students in the last three years, and the number of Law students has also slightly increased in the last decade. There are 500 more students at Medical colleges than ten years ago, but the increase has not been rapid since 1901-02. In the Engineering colleges the rise in the number of scholars has been large and steadily maintained. The following statement shews the number of examinees for the attainment of the university degrees named, the number passed, and the race or creed of the passed scholars in 1906-07:

	Number of examinees	Number passed	Race or creed of passed scholars: Europeans and Eurasians	Native Christians	Hindus: Brahmans	Hindus: Non-Brahmans	Muhammadans	Parsis	Others

It is interesting to observe the different proportion of the students attending the various classes of college who proceed to a degree. The proportion is highest in the case of law and lowest in the case of colleges for oriental learning. The following statement shews the average number of students in each class of colleges and the number who have appeared for and passed the B.A. or equivalent examination during the last three years:

System of Management

Table No. 7. Nearly three-fourths of the total number of schools and colleges in India are public institutions, i.e., the course of study conforms to the standard prescribed by the Educational Department or by the Universities, and they are either inspected by the officers of the Department or present pupils at public examinations held by the Department or by the Universities. These public institutions contain nearly nine-tenths of the total number of students in India. Of the public institutions about 86 per cent (containing 90 per cent of the scholars) receive public aid. Direct public management, however, is but a small feature of the educational system of India, and these institutions altogether number only some 1,500. They include nearly one-third of the total number of colleges and about one-sixth of special schools, but in other classes of schools the proportion managed directly by Government is insignificant. The number of institutions managed by local funds and municipal boards is very much higher and such institutions contain nearly a quarter of the total number of scholars on the rolls on the 31st March. Nearly half the institutions in India are under private management aided by Government or by local funds or by municipal boards.

Female Education

The ratio of girls to boys under instruction is about 1 to 8. Ten years ago it was about 1 to 10.

As regards creed among Christians and Parsis the ratio of girls to boys is about 1 to 2, among Buddhists and Brahmans about 1 to 7, and among Muhammadans and non-Brahmans about 1 to 9.

As regards University education the number of girls in Arts colleges (160) is greater than in all the other colleges taken together. The number of girls studying in Medical colleges (75), which is about half the number in Arts colleges, comes next.

Of the girls attending schools for special education (5,330), as many as 1,061, or 20 per cent were in Technical and Industrial schools, of whom 35 were Europeans and Eurasians, 496 Native Christians, 417 Hindus, 74 Muhammadans, and 38 Buddhists. One hundred and sixty-eight were at Medical schools, the majority of them being Native Christians.

Cost of Education

Tables Nos. 8 and 9. About two-thirds of the total expenditure can be assigned to different classes of educational institutions, and about one-third is treated as indirect expenditure on all classes of institutions combined. The following statement shows what percentage of the total expenditure is incurred on each of the different classes of schools and colleges :

Direct expenditure on Public Instruction :

Arts colleges	5·49
Colleges for Professional Training	2·97
Secondary schools	26·99
Primary schools	27·82
Training schools	2·1

About 50 per cent of the total expenditure in 1906-07 was met from taxation, i.e., provincial revenues and contributions from district boards and municipalities. About 26 per cent was met from fees, and the balance was provided by subscriptions, endowments, and miscellaneous items. These figures are supplied by Educational Officers and are prepared on a different basis from those that appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts.

The total expenditure has increased in the last 10 years from ₹3,56,00,000 to ₹5,60,00,000, i.e., by 57 per cent. The increase in fees is only 40 per cent, while the increase from provincial revenues and local and municipal funds is 80 per cent. The average annual cost of educating each pupil in the different schools and colleges in British India during 1906-07 was as follows:

Hostels or Boarding-houses

There were, in 1906-07, 1,930 hostels or boarding-houses attached to colleges and schools with 78,412 residents. Of these 1,598 were for males and 332 for females with 59,304 and 19,108, respectively, in residence. The following statement shows the number of boarders attached to each class of schools or colleges:

Arts colleges	4,040
Colleges for Professional Training	896
Secondary schools	44,314
Primary schools	21,185
Special schools	7,899

The expenditure on hostels was as follows:

REFORMATORY SCHOOLS

[TABLE 1, PAGES 121 TO 124]

(Compiled from annual reports on Reformatory schools supplied by Local Governments and Administrations)

There are eight reformatory schools in British India with pupils numbering 1,125 at the end of 1906 as against 1,116 at the end of the previous year. Two of the schools are in Bengal, and there is one each in Madras, Bombay, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces, Burma, and the Panjab. There were 323 admissions during the year, and 305 discharges. About 65 per cent of the boys are Hindus and 26 per cent Muhammadans, which proportions correspond closely with the proportions of Hindus and Muhammadans in the population of the country. Of the 1,125 remaining at the end of the year as many as 1,021 were illiterate.

Of the boys discharged in the three years preceding 1906, 27·1 per cent were following occupations taught in the schools, and of these agriculture engaged 13·5 per cent. The percentage of those following occupations not taught in the schools was 31·3. Of 9 per cent unsatisfactory reports were received, while 32 per cent were unemployed, were with friends, had died or disappeared from observation.

The net expenditure on the schools was ₹1,72,353 in 1906, the average annual expenditure in the preceding five years having been ₹1,35,028.

Number and Classification of Schools and Colleges

The total number of institutions in 1907-08 was 165,473, of which 152,156 were for males and 13,317 for females. The total number of villages served by these schools is 583,058, and the number of towns, i.e., places containing 5,000 inhabitants or upwards, is 1,605. Thus each institution for males serves nearly 4 towns and villages, and each institution for females serves nearly 44 towns and villages. The number of students in each class of school or college classified according to the description of education imparted therein is as follows:

	1898-99	1907-08

Public Primary Schools	3,137,546	4,199,146
Private Elementary Schools	534,531	568,909

The total number of scholars, omitting those in Baluchistan, are as follows:

	Males	Females
Colleges	860,735	79,448
Secondary Schools, Special Schools, and Private Advanced Schools
Primary Schools and Private Elementary Schools	4,136,659	631,396

Thus of the total number of male scholars 17 per cent are undergoing higher education and 11 per cent of female scholars.

The percentage of students to the population of school-going age, which is taken as 15 per cent of the total population, was 20 per cent in the case of males and 4 per cent in the case of females.

The increase in the number of students at Public Primary Schools in the last decade has been at the rate of 34 per cent, and the decrease in the case of Private Elementary Schools has been at the rate of ·06 per cent. The attendance at Secondary Schools including Private Advanced Schools has increased by 27 per cent in the same period. The Middle Vernacular Schools have in the last five years recovered their position as compared with the Middle English Schools. In 1902-03 the total number of scholars in the Middle English Schools was 181,836 as compared with 130,124 at the Middle Vernacular Schools. Girls attending Middle Vernacular Schools in 1907-08 numbered 19,383 as compared with 38,988 attending High Schools and Middle English Schools combined.

Schools for special instruction extend over a wide range of subjects and their total number has increased from 720 to 3,732 in the last decade. The number of students has, at the same time, increased from 28,158 to 102,002. The number of students of the law schools has decreased from 467 to 96, and the students of engineering and surveying schools has also declined from 1,103 to 1,101. In technical and industrial schools the increase has been from 3,435 to 8,136.

Stages of Instructions in Public Schools

The total number of scholars on the rolls of the general public schools, both secondary and primary, on the 31st March 1908, included 4,315,827 boys and 637,586 girls. Of these about 59 per cent of the boys and girls were in the lower primary stage reading printed books, and about 34 per cent of the girls were in a still lower stage not reading printed books.

Results of University Examination

The English Arts Colleges contain 74 per cent of the total number of students undergoing university education. This is slightly less than the proportion ten years ago. The Oriental Arts Colleges shewed a very marked rise in the number of students up to 1905-06, viz. 971, but since then there has been a tendency of decline, the number of students being 802 in 1907-08 as against 930 in 1906-07, and the number of law students has also slightly decreased in the last decade. There are 300 more students at Medical Colleges than ten years ago, but the increase has not been rapid since 1901-02. In the Engineering Colleges the rise in the number of scholars has been large and steadily maintained. The following statement shews the number of examinees for the attainment of the university degrees named, the number passed, and the race or creed of the passed scholars in 1907-08 :

			Race or creed of passed scholars

It is interesting to observe the different proportion of the students attending the various classes of colleges who proceed to a degree. The proportion is highest in the case of law and lowest in the case of colleges for oriental learning. The following statement shews the average number

System of Management

Nearly three-fourths of the total number of schools and colleges in India are public institutions, i.e., the course of study conforms to the standard prescribed by the Educational Department or by the Universities, and they are either inspected by the officers of the Department or present pupils at public examinations held by the Department or by the Universities. These public institutions contain nearly nine-tenths of the total number of students in India. Of the public institutions about 86 per cent (containing 90 per cent of the scholars) receive public aid. Direct public management, however, is but a small feature of the educational system of India, and these institutions altogether number only some 1,800. They include nearly one-third of the total number of colleges and about one-eighth of special schools, but in other classes of schools the proportion managed directly by Government is insignificant. The number of institutions managed by local funds and municipal boards is very much higher and such institutions contain nearly a quarter of the total number of scholars on the rolls on the 31st March. Nearly half the institutions in India are under private management aided by Government or by local funds or by municipal boards.

Female Education

The ratio of girls to boys under instruction is about 1 to 8. Ten years ago it was about 1 to 10.

As regards creed among Christians and Parsis the ratio of girls to boys is about 1 to 2, among Buddhists and Brahmans about 1 to 6, and among Muhammadans and non-Brahmans about 1 to 8.

As regards University education the number of girls in Arts Colleges (175) is greater than in all the other colleges taken together. The number of girls studying in Medical Colleges (79), which is about half the number in Arts Colleges, comes next.

Of the girls attending schools for special education (10,666), as many as 1,706, or 16 per cent were in Technical and Industrial Schools, of whom 42 were Europeans and Eurasians, 719 Native Christians, 848 Hindus, 19 Muhammadans, and 77 Buddhists. One hundred and sixty-five were at Medical Schools, the majority of them being Native Christians.

Cost of Education

About two-thirds of the total expenditure can be assigned to different classes of educational institutions, and about one-third is treated as indirect expenditure on all classes of institutions

combined. The following statement shows what percentage of the total expenditure is incurred on each of the different classes of schools and colleges :

Direct expenditure on Public Instruction :

Arts Colleges	5·4
Colleges for Professional Training	3·14
Secondary Schools	26·69
Primary Schools	27·75

TOTAL	30·67

About 54 per cent of the total expenditure in 1907-08 was met from taxation, i.e., provincial revenues and contributions from district boards and municipalities. About 26 per cent was met from fees, and the balance was provided by subscriptions, endowments, and miscellaneous items. These figures are supplied by Educational Officers and are prepared on a different basis from those that appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts.

The total expenditure has increased in the last 10 years from R3,62,00,000 to R6,02,00,000, i.e., by 66 per cent. The increase in fees is only 40 per cent, while the increase from provincial revenues and local and municipal funds is 95 per cent. The average annual cost of educating each pupil in the different schools and colleges in British India during 1907-08 was as follows :

Hostels or Boarding-houses

There were, in 1907-08, 2,060 hostels or boarding-houses attached to colleges and schools with 81,728 residents. Of these 1,724 were for males and 336 for females with 62,923 and 18,805, respectively, in residence. The following statement shows the number of boarders attached to each class of schools or colleges :

Arts Colleges	4,398
Colleges for Professional Training	882
Secondary Schools	46,711
Primary Schools	21,326
Special Schools	8,387

PRINTING PRESSES AND PUBLICATIONS

[TABLE 1, PAGE 119]

(Compiled from figures supplied by local Governments and Administrations)

The number of registered presses increased in the ten years ending 1907-08 from 2,061 to 2,571, an increase of nearly 25 per cent.

The number of newspapers increased in the same period from 686 to 753, an increase of nearly 10 per cent.

The number of periodical publications (other than newspapers) increased from 462 to 1,062, an increase of 127 per cent.

The number of books published in English, or in other European languages, increased from 1,125 to 1,524, being at the rate of 35 per cent. The issue of books in Indian languages, whether modern or classical, increased by about 16 per cent. Their number (7,095), however, is still four times as large as the number of books printed in English.

The output of the printing presses in 1907-08 was as follows :

	Newspapers	Other periodicals	English books	Indian books
Burma	47	58	5	201
Eastern Bengal and Assam	39	13	22	225
Bengal	109	138	639	2,456
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	95	92	168	1,218
Panjab	113	158	127	955
Bombay	190	310	77	747
Central Provinces and Berar	16	12	1	56
Madras	141	274	480	1,197

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books, whether printed in English or in Indian languages, which greatly exceed in number those produced in any other province. In the number of newspapers, however, Bombay stands first, followed by Madras and the Panjab. Bombay shows an increase of 3 and the Panjab a decrease of 14, compared with the figures for 1906-07.

In the subjects of the books published in 1907 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second :

Religion	2,344	Medicine	314
Poetry and the drama	1,386	History and biography	299
Language	786	Mathematics and mechanics	176
Fiction	412	Philosophy	91
Law	348

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1907 in the principal languages :

English	1,527	Telugu	331
Bengali	1,341	Marathi	288
Hindi	903	Assamese	144
Urdu	814	Pali-Burmese and Burmese	141

Sanskrit	393	Sindhi	54
Gujarati	371	Arabic	49
Uriya	352	Malayalam	47

And smaller numbers in forty-two other languages, besides 880 bilingual, 78 trilingual, and 6 polyglot books.

EDUCATION

[TABLES 1 TO 10, PAGES 5 TO 116]

(Compiled from the Annual Reports on Public Instruction received from local Governments and Administrations)

For the definitions of the terms used in the tables, as given in the Bengal Education Code see the eleventh issue of the Judicial and Administrative Statistics.

Number of Students

The total number of scholars in public and private institutions in British India in 1908-09 was 5,984,110. This represents an increase of 1,520,375 in the last decade, being at the rate of 34 per cent. Male scholars numbered 5,200,035 as compared with 4,037,821 ten years ago, and females numbered 784,075 as compared with 425,914. The increase is at the rate of 29 per cent in the case of male scholars and 84 per cent in the case of female scholars.

Number and Classification of Schools and Colleges

The total number of institutions in 1908-09 was 168,129, of which 154,018 were for males and 14,111 for females. The total number of villages served by these schools is 583,299, and the number of towns, i.e., places containing 5,000 inhabitants or upwards, is 1,605. Thus each institution for males serves nearly 4 towns and villages, and each institution for females serves nearly 41 towns and villages. The number of students in each class of school or college classified according to the description of education imparted therein is as follows :

	1899-1900	1908-09

The total number of scholars, omitting those in Baluchistan, are as follows :

	Males	Females
Colleges, Secondary Schools, Special Schools, and Private Advanced Schools	919,306	90,227
Primary Schools and Private Elementary Schools	4,278,326	693,287

Thus of the total number of male scholars 18 per cent and of female scholars 12 per cent are undergoing higher education.

The percentage of students to the population of school-going age, which is taken as 15 per cent of the total population, was 28 per cent in the case of males and 4 per cent in the case of females.

The increase in the number of students at Public Primary Schools in the last decade has been at the rate of 38 per cent, and the increase in the case of Private Elementary Schools has been at the rate of ·9 per cent. The attendance at Secondary Schools including Private Advanced Schools has increased by 29 per cent in the same period. The Middle Vernacular Schools have in the last six years recovered their position as compared with the Middle English Schools. In 1902-03 the total number of scholars in the Middle English Schools was 181,836 as compared with 130,124 at the Middle Vernacular Schools. Girls attending Middle Vernacular Schools in 1908-09 numbered 31,642 as compared with 31,293 attending High Schools and Middle English Schools combined.

Schools for special instruction extend over a wide range of subjects and their total number has increased from 847 to 4,511 in the last decade. The number of students has, at the same time, increased from 31,926 to 129,761. The number of students of the law schools has decreased from 403 to 99, while that of the students of engineering and surveying schools has increased from 1,151 to 1,302. In technical and industrial schools the increase has been from 3,727 to 8,510.

Stages of Instructions in Public Schools

The total number of scholars on the rolls of the general public schools, both secondary and primary, on the 31st March 1909, included 4,516,254 boys and 704,412 girls. Of these 59 per cent of the boys and girls were in the lower primary stage reading printed books, and 36 per cent of the girls were in a still lower stage not reading printed books.

Results of University Examination

The English Arts Colleges contain 73 per cent of the total number of students undergoing university education. This is slightly less than the proportion ten years ago. The Oriental Arts Colleges shewed a very marked rise in the number of students up to 1905-06, viz. 971, but since then there has been a tendency of decline. The number of law students has increased in the last decade from 2,375 to 2,558. There are 300 more students at Medical Colleges than ten years ago, but the increase has not been rapid since 1901-02. In the Engineering Colleges the rise in the number of scholars has been relatively large. The following statement shews the number of examinees for the attainment of the university degrees named, the number passed, and the race or creed of the passed scholars in 1908-09:

	Number of examinees	Number passed	Race or creed of passed scholars: Europeans and Eurasians	Native Christians	Hindus: Brahmans	Hindus: Non-Brahmans	Muhammadans	Parsis	Others

It is interesting to observe the different proportion of the students attending the various classes of colleges who proceed to a degree. The proportion is highest in the case of law and lowest in the case of colleges for oriental learning. The following statement shews the average number

System of Management

More than three-fourths of the total number of schools and colleges in India are public institutions, i.e., the course of study conforms to the standard prescribed by the Educational Department or by the Universities, and they are either inspected by the officers of the Department or present pupils at public examinations held by the Department or by the Universities. These public institutions contain nearly nine-tenths of the total number of students in India. Of the public institutions about 66 per cent (containing 81 per cent of the scholars) receive public aid. Direct public management, however, is but a small feature of the educational system of India, and these institutions altogether number only some 1,800. They include nearly one-third of the total number of colleges and about one-tenth of special schools, but in other classes of schools the proportion managed directly by Government is insignificant. The number of institutions managed by local funds and municipal boards is very much higher and such institutions contain nearly a quarter of the total number of scholars on the rolls on the 31st March. Nearly half the institutions in India are under private management aided by Government or by local funds or by municipal boards.

Female Education

The ratio of girls to boys under instruction is about 1 to 7. Ten years ago it was about 1 to 10.

As regards creed among Christians and Parsis the ratio of girls to boys is about 1 to 2, among Buddhists and Brahmans about 1 to 2, and among Muhammadans and non-Brahmans about 1 to 8.

As regards University education the number of girls in Arts Colleges (182) is greater than in all the other colleges taken together. The number of girls studying in Medical Colleges (76), which is a little less than half the number in Arts Colleges, comes next.

Of the girls attending schools for special education (16,093), as many as 1,588, or 9 per cent were in Technical and Industrial Schools, of whom 53 were Europeans and Eurasians, 810 Native Christians, 648 Hindus, 56 Muhammadans, and 8 Buddhists. One hundred and seventy-three were at Medical Schools, the majority of them being Native Christians.

Cost of Education

About two-thirds of the total expenditure can be assigned to different classes of educational institutions, and about one-third is treated as indirect expenditure on all classes of institutions

combined. The following statement shows what percentage of the total expenditure is incurred on each of the different classes of schools and colleges :

Direct expenditure on Public Instruction :

About 54 per cent of the total expenditure in 1908-09 was met from taxation, i.e., provincial revenues and contributions from district boards and municipalities. About 26 per cent was met from fees, and the balance was provided by subscriptions, endowments, and miscellaneous items. These figures are supplied by Educational Officers and are prepared on a different basis from those that appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts.

The total expenditure has increased in the last 10 years from R3,77,00,000 to R6,58,00,000, i.e., by 75 per cent. The increase in fees is only 46 per cent, while the increase from provincial revenues and local and municipal funds is 105 per cent. The average annual cost of educating each pupil in the different schools and colleges in British India during 1908-09 was as follows :

Hostels or Boarding-houses

There were, in 1908-09, 2,241 hostels or boarding-houses attached to colleges and schools with 86,932 residents. Of these 1,886 were for males and 355 for females with 66,099 and 20,833 respectively, in residence. The following statement shows the number of boarders attached to each class of schools or colleges :

Note (2).—Variations in the figures for Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam are due to the territorial changes in those provinces during 1905-06.

(Compiled from figures supplied by local Governments and Administrations)

The number of registered presses increased in the ten years ending 1908-09 from 2,153 to 2,594, an increase of nearly 20·5 per cent.

The number of newspapers increased in the same period from 675 to 738, an increase of 9·3 per cent.

The number of periodical publications (other than newspapers) increased from 465 to 895, an increase of 92·4 per cent.

The number of books published in English, or in other European languages, increased from 1,164 to 1,687, being at the rate of nearly 45 per cent. The issue of books in Indian languages, whether modern or classical, increased by about 24 per cent. Their number (8,345), however, is still four times as large as the number of books printed in English.

The output of the printing presses in 1908-09 was as follows:

	Newspapers	Other periodicals	English books	Indian books
Burma	42	52	2	196
Eastern Bengal and Assam	40	12	20	203
Bengal	124	125	701	2,849
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	90	93	141	1,268
Panjab	121	80	84	1,101
Bombay	177	235	79	869
Central Provinces and Berar	18	13	14	106
Madras	123	276	639	1,702

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books, whether printed in English or in Indian languages, which greatly exceed in number those produced in any other province. In the number of newspapers, however, Bombay stands first, followed by Bengal, Madras, and the Panjab. Bengal and the Panjab show an increase of 15 and 8, while in Madras and Bombay there is a decrease of 18 and 13, respectively, as compared with the figures for 1907-08.

In the subjects of the books published in 1908 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second:

Religion	2,745	Fiction	411
Poetry and the drama	1,607	History and biography	366
Language	931	Mathematics and mechanics	206
Law	432	Philosophy	178
Medicine	415

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1908 in the principal languages:

English	1,838	Panjabi	345
Bengali	1,604	Uriya	343
Hindi	1,030	Pali-Burmese and Burmese	183
Urdu	977	Malayalam	118
Tamil	628	Assamese	100
Gujarati	554	Arabic	99
Sanskrit	485	Kanarese	55

Telugu	362	Sindhi	36

And smaller numbers in forty-four other languages, besides 949 bilingual, 75 trilingual, and 25 polyglot books.

PRINTING PRESSES AND PUBLICATIONS—continued

The languages employed in the composition of bilingual publications of 1908 are mainly Sanskrit, English, Arabic, Bengali, Urdu, and Hindi, Sanskrit being in most common use:

English and Bengali	79	Sanskrit and Uriya	56
„ „ Sanskrit	43	„ „ Gujarati	34
„ „ Hindi	20	„ „ Marathi	31
„ „ Urdu	26	Arabic and Urdu	108

[TABLES 1 TO 10, PAGES 6 TO 116]

(Compiled from the Annual Reports on Public Instruction received from local Governments and Administrations)

For the definitions of the terms used in the tables, as given in the Bengal Education Code, see the eleventh issue of the Judicial and Administrative Statistics.

Number of Students

The total number of scholars in public and private institutions in British India in 1909-10 was 6,214,995. This represents an increase of 1,796,687 in the last decade, being at the rate of 40 per cent. Male scholars numbered 5,383,041 as compared with 3,988,663 ten years ago, and females numbered 831,954 as compared with 429,645. The increase is at the rate of 35 per cent in the case of male scholars and 94 per cent in the case of female scholars.

Number and Classification of Schools and Colleges

The total number of institutions in 1909-10 was 170,469, of which 156,285 were for males and 14,184 for females. The total number of villages served by these schools is 581,791, and the number of towns, i.e., places containing 5,000 inhabitants or upwards, is 1,605. Thus each institution for males serves nearly 4 towns and villages, and each institution for females serves 41 towns and villages. The number of students in each class of school or college classified according to the description of education imparted therein is as follows:

	1900-01	1909-10

Private Advanced Schools	62,013	52,953
Public Primary Schools	3,164,269	4,559,119
Private Elementary Schools	545,946	563,191

The total number of scholars, omitting those in Baluchistan in respect of whom details are not available, are distributed as follows:

	1900-01		1909-10.
	Males	Females	Males	Females
Colleges	658,973	48,296	992,371	97,237

Primary Schools and Private Elementary Schools	3,328,959	381,194	4,388,070	734,240

Thus of the total number of male scholars 18 per cent, and of female scholars 12 per cent are undergoing higher education.

The percentage of students to the population of school-going age, which is taken as 15 per cent of the total population, was 30 per cent in the case of males and 5 per cent in the case of females.

The increase in the number of students at Public Primary Schools in the last decade has been at the rate of 40 per cent, and the increase in the case of Private Elementary Schools has been at the rate of 3 per cent. The attendance at Secondary Schools including Private Advanced Schools has increased by 40 per cent in the same period. Girls attending Middle Vernacular Schools in 1909-10 numbered 35,324 as compared with 30,904 attending High Schools and Middle English Schools combined.

Schools for special instruction extend over a wide range of subjects and their total number has increased from 965 to 5,019 in the last decade. The number of students has, at the same time, increased from 33,947 to 143,133. The number of students of the law schools has decreased from 295 to 126, while that of the students of engineering and surveying schools has increased from 1,140 to 1,150. In technical and industrial schools the increase has been from 4,405 to 8,447.

Stages of Instructions in Public Schools

The total number of scholars on the rolls of the general public schools, both secondary and primary, on the 31st March 1910, included 4,677,136 boys and 745,980 girls. Of these nearly 59 per cent of the boys and girls were in the lower primary stage reading printed books and 36 per cent of the girls were in a still lower stage not reading printed books.

Results of University Examination

The English Arts Colleges contain 74 per cent of the total number of students undergoing university education. This is slightly less than the proportion ten years ago. The Oriental Arts Colleges showed a tendency towards decline in the number of students up to 1907-08, but since then there has been a marked improvement; the number in 1909-10 being 1,320, the highest in the last decade. The number of law students has increased in the last decade from 2,562 to 2,879. There are 300 more students at Medical Colleges than ten years ago, but the increase has not been rapid since 1901-02. In the Engineering Colleges the rise in the number of scholars has been relatively large. The following statement shows the number of examinees for the attainment of the university degrees named, the number passed, and the race or creed of the passed scholars in 1909-10:

	Number of examinees	Number passed	Race or creed of passed scholars: Europeans and Eurasians	Native Christians	Hindus: Brahmans	Hindus: Non-Brahmans	Muhammadans	Parsis	Others

It is interesting to observe the different proportion of the students attending the various classes of colleges who proceed to a degree. The proportion is highest in the case of law and lowest in the case of colleges for oriental learning. The following statement shows the average number

System of Management

More than three-fourths of the total number of schools and colleges in India are public institutions, i.e., the course of study conforms to the standard prescribed by the Educational Department or by the Universities, and they are either inspected by the officers of the Department or present pupils at public examinations held by the Department or by the Universities. These public institutions contain nearly nine-tenths of the total number of students in India. Of the public institutions about 86 per cent (containing 89 per cent of the scholars) receive public aid. Direct public management, however, is but a small feature of the educational system of India, and these institutions altogether number only some 2,000. They include nearly one-third of the total number of colleges and about one-tenth of special schools, but in other classes of schools the proportion managed directly by Government is insignificant. The number of institutions managed by local funds and municipal boards is very much higher and such institutions contain more than a quarter of the total number of scholars on the rolls on the 31st March. Nearly half the institutions in India are under private management aided by Government or by local funds or by municipal boards.

Female Education

The ratio of girls to boys under instruction is about 1 to 7. Ten years ago it was about 1 to 10.

As regards creed, among Christians and Parsis the ratio of girls to boys is about 1 to 2, among Buddhists and Brahmans about 1 to 6, and among Muhammadans and non-Brahmans about 1 to 8.

As regards University education, the number of girls in Arts Colleges (217) is greater than in all the other colleges taken together. The number of girls studying in Medical Colleges (64), which is a little less than one-third of the number in Arts Colleges, comes next.

Of the girls attending schools for special education (17,933), as many as 1,320, or 8 per cent were in Technical and Industrial Schools, of whom 52 were Europeans and Eurasians, 558 Native Christians, 476 Hindus, 117 Muhammadans, and 32 Buddhists. Two hundred and one were at Medical Schools, the majority of them being Native Christians.

Cost of Education

About two-thirds of the total expenditure can be assigned to different classes of educational institutions, and about one-third is treated as indirect expenditure on all classes of institutions

About 52 per cent of the total expenditure in 1909-10 was met from taxation, i.e., provincial revenues and contributions from district boards and municipalities. About 27 per cent was met from fees, and the balance was provided by subscriptions, endowments, and miscellaneous receipts. These figures are supplied by Educational Officers and are prepared on a different basis from those that appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts.

The total expenditure has increased in the last 10 years from ₹3,84,00,000 to ₹6,88,00,000, i.e., by 79 per cent. The increase in fees is only 54 per cent, while the increase from provincial revenues and local and municipal funds is 111 per cent. The average annual cost of educating each pupil in the different schools and colleges in British India during 1909-10 was as follows :

PRINTING PRESSES AND PUBLICATIONS

(Compiled from figures supplied by local Governments and Administrations)

The following table shows the growth in the number of printing presses and in their output in the past 30 years. The figures in brackets represent percentages of increase (+) or decrease (−) in the stated year compared with the figure for the concluding year of the preceding decennium.

	Presses	Newspapers	Periodicals	Books published
				In English or other European languages	In Indian languages (modern or classical)
1879-80	751	328	322	523	4,346
1889-90	1,465 (+ 95 %)	526 (+ 60 %)	302 (— 6 %)	917 (+ 75 %)	8,461 (+ 95 %)
1899-1900	2,153 (+ 47 %)	675 (+ 28 %)	465 (+ 54 %)	1,164 (+ 27 %)	6,724 (— 21 %)
1909-10	2,736 (+ 27 %)	726 (+ 8 %)	829 (+ 78 %)	2,112 (+ 81 %)	9,934 (+ 48 %)

The number of Indian vernacular or classical books is still about five times as large as the number of books printed in English or in other European languages.

The provincial output of the printing presses in 1909-10 was as follows:

	Newspapers	Other periodicals	English books	Indian books
Burma	44	52	18	228
Eastern Bengal and Assam	41	15	3	213
Bengal	102	104	763	3,146
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	124	106	272	1,878
Panjab	115	90	86	1,105
Bombay	160	209	113	1,140
Central Provinces and Berar	17	10	13	102
Madras	119	233	834	2,085

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books which greatly exceed in number those produced in any other province. In the number of newspapers however, Bombay stands first, followed by the United Provinces, Madras, the Panjab, and Bengal. The United Provinces show a numerical increase of 34, while in Bengal, Bombay, the Panjab, and Madras there is a decrease of 22, 17, 6, and 4, respectively, as compared with the figures for 1908-09.

In the subjects of the books published in 1909 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second:

Religion	3,057	History and biography	470
Poetry and the drama	1,929	Medicine	411
Language	1,111	Mathematics and mechanics	281
Fiction	525	Philosophy	203
Law	505

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1909 in the principal languages:

English	2,221	Uriya	403
Bengali	1,847	Panjabi	309
Hindi	1,193	Pali-Burmese and Burmese	183
Urdu	1,022	Malayalam	134

Gujarati	722	Assamese	114
Marathi	572	Sindhi	92

And smaller numbers in forty-four other languages, besides 1,053 bilingual, 108 trilingual, and 20 polyglot books.

Thus each institution for males serves nearly 4 towns and villages, and each institution for females serves 40 towns and villages. The number of students in each class of school or college classified according to the description of education imparted therein is as follows :

	1901-02	1910-11
UNIVERSITY EDUCATION—
Arts Colleges :

Private Advanced Schools	62,502	52,556
Public Primary Schools	3,271,379	4,627,706
Private Elementary Schools	576,497	572,444

The total number of scholars, omitting those in Baluchistan in respect of whom details are not available, are distributed as follows :

	1901-02		1910-11
	Males	Females	Males	Females
Colleges	635,554	46,120	1,048,062	106,448

Primary Schools and Private Elementary Schools	3,447,839	399,978	4,140,951	759,199

Thus of the total number of male scholars 16 per cent, and of female scholars 10 per cent are undergoing higher education.

The percentage of students to the population of school-going age, which is taken as 15 per cent of the total population, was 28 per cent in the case of males and 4 per cent in the case of females.

The increase in the number of students at Public Primary Schools in the last decade has been at the rate of 41 per cent. The attendance at Secondary Schools including Private Advanced Schools has increased by 44 per cent in the same period. Girls attending Middle Vernacular Schools in 1910-11 numbered 37,776 as compared with 32,684 attending High Schools and Middle English Schools combined.

Schools for special instruction extend over a wide range of subjects and their total number has increased from 1,078 to 5,825 in the last decade. The number of students has, at the same time, increased from 35,180 to 166,118. The number of students of the law schools has increased from 41 to 82, while that of the students of engineering and surveying schools has decreased from 1,575 to 1,063. In technical and industrial schools the increase has been from 4,977 to 10,735.

Stages of Instructions in Public Schools

The total number of scholars on the rolls of the general public schools, both secondary and primary, on the 31st March 1911, included 4,760,624 boys and 771,432 girls. Of these nearly 60 per cent of the boys and girls were in the lower primary stage reading printed books and 37 per cent of the girls were in a still lower stage not reading printed books.

Results of University Examination

The English Arts Colleges contain 75 per cent of the total number of students undergoing university education. This is nearly equal to the proportion ten years ago. The Oriental Arts Colleges showed a tendency towards decline in the number of students up to 1907-08, but since then there has been a marked improvement, the number in 1910-11 being 1,375, the highest in the last decade. The number of law students has increased in the last decade from 2,767 to 2,772. There are 154 more students at Medical Colleges than ten years ago, but the increase has not been rapid since 1901-02. In the Engineering Colleges the rise in the number of scholars has been relatively large. The following statement shows the number of examinees for the attainment of the university degrees named, the number passed, and the race or creed of the passed scholars in 1910-11 :

			Race or creed of passed scholars

It is interesting to observe the different proportion of the students attending the various classes of colleges who proceed to a degree. The proportion is highest in the case of law and lowest in the case of colleges for oriental learning. The following statement shows the average number

System of Management

More than three-fourths of the total number of schools and colleges in India are public institutions, i.e., the course of study conforms to the standard prescribed by the Educational Department or by the Universities, and they are either inspected by the officers of the Department or present pupils at public examinations held by the Department or by the Universities. These public institutions contain nearly nine-tenths of the total number of students in India. Of the public institutions about 86 per cent (containing 89 per cent of the scholars) receive public aid. Direct public management, however, is but a small feature of the educational system of India, and these institutions altogether number only some 2,000. They include nearly one-third of the total number of colleges and about one-twelfth of special schools, but in other classes of schools the proportion managed directly by Government is insignificant. The number of institutions managed by local funds and municipal boards is very much higher and such institutions contain nearly a quarter of the total number of scholars on the rolls on the 31st March. More than half the institutions in India are under private management aided by Government or by local funds or by municipal boards.

Female Education

The ratio of girls to boys under instruction is about 1 to 6. Ten years ago it was about 1 to 9.

As regards creed, among Christians and Parsis the ratio of girls to boys is about 1 to 2, among Buddhists and Brahmans about 1 to 6, and among Muhammadans and non-Brahmans about 1 to 8.

As regards University education, the number of girls in Arts Colleges (244) is greater than in all the other colleges taken together. The number of girls studying in Medical Colleges (58), which is a little less than one-third of the number in Arts Colleges, comes next.

Of the girls attending schools for special education (17,933), as many as 2,329, or 8 per cent were in Technical and Industrial Schools, of whom 194 were Europeans and Eurasians, 1,193 Indian Christians, 655 Hindus, 106 Muhammadans, and 63 Buddhists. Two hundred and twenty-nine were at Medical Schools, the majority of them being Indian Christians.

Cost of Education

About two-thirds of the total expenditure can be assigned to different classes of educational institutions, and about one-third is treated as indirect expenditure on all classes of institutions

combined. The following statement shows what percentage of the total expenditure is incurred on each of the different classes of schools and colleges :

Direct expenditure on Public Instruction :

Arts Colleges	6·04
Colleges for Professional Training	2·97
Secondary Schools	27·61
Primary Schools	26·96
Training Schools	2·42

University	2·1
Direction	·96
Inspection	5·49
Scholarships	1·79
Buildings	8·89
Furniture and apparatus	1·07
Miscellaneous	9·15
TOTAL	29·45

About 52 per cent of the total expenditure in 1910-11 was met from taxation, i.e., provincial revenues and contributions from district boards and municipalities. About 27 per cent was met from fees, and the balance was provided by subscriptions, endowments, and miscellaneous receipts. These figures are supplied by Educational Officers and are prepared on a different basis from those that appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts.

The total expenditure has increased in the last 10 years from ₹4,00,00,000 to ₹7,20,00,000, i.e., by 80 per cent. The increase in fees is about 60 per cent, while the increase from provincial revenues and local and municipal funds is 110 per cent. The average annual cost of educating each pupil in the different schools and colleges in British India during 1910-11 was as follows :

Hostels or Boarding-houses

There were, in 1910-11, 2,682 hostels or boarding-houses attached to colleges and schools with 1,01,240 residents. Of these 2,264 were for males and 418 for females with 78,888 and 22,352, respectively, in residence. The following statement shows the number of boarders attached to each class of schools or colleges :

Arts Colleges	7,225
Colleges for Professional Training	2,625

[TABLE 1, PAGE 119]

[No Statistics relating to Native States are available for this section.]

Compiled from figures supplied by local Governments and Administrations)

The following table shows the growth in the number of printing presses and in their output in the 30 years ending 1909-10. The figures in brackets represent except in the case of 1910-11 percentages of increase (+) or decrease (—) in the stated year compared with the figure for the concluding year of the preceding decennium. Figures for 1910-11 together with percentages of increase or decrease compared with the figures for 1909-10 are also given.

	Presses	Newspapers	Periodicals	Books published: In English or other European languages	Books published: In Indian languages (modern or classical)
1879-80	751	328	322	523	4,346
1889-90	1,465 (+ 95 %)	526 (+ 60 %)	302 (— 6 %)	917 (+ 75 %)	8,461 (+ 95 %)
1899-1900	2,153 (+ 47 %)	675 (+ 28 %)	465 (+ 54 %)	1,164 (+ 27 %)	6,724 (— 21 %)
1909-10	2,736 (+ 27 %)	726 (+ 8 %)	829 (+ 78 %)	2,112 (+ 81 %)	9,934 (+ 48 %)
1910-11	2,751 (+ 0·6 %)	658 (— 9 %)	1,902 (+ 129 %)	1,578 (— 25 %)	10,063 (+ 1 %)

The number of Indian vernacular or classical books is still about six times as large as the number of books printed in English or in other European languages.

The provincial output of the printing presses in 1910-11 was as follows :—

	Newspapers	Other periodicals	English books	Indian books
Burma	45	51	26	402
Eastern Bengal and Assam	44	15	31	503
Bengal	96	180	469	2,523
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	108	102	370	1,727
Punjab	98	83	48	1,360
Bombay	141	283	87	1,512
Central Provinces and Berar	17	10	24	120
Madras	104	1,169	522	1,889

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books which greatly exceed in number those produced in any other province. In the number of newspapers, however, Bombay stands first followed by the United Provinces, Madras, the Punjab, and Bengal, but these provinces show a decrease of 19, 16, 15, 17, and 6, respectively, as compared with the figures for 1909-10.

In the subjects of the books published in 1910 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second :

Religion	3,603	History and biography	519
Poetry and the drama	1,894	Medicine	465
Language	1,304	Mathematics and mechanics	368
Fiction	638	Philosophy	213
Law	611

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1910 in the principal languages :

English	2,475	Uriya	487
Bengali	2,333	Punjabi	458
Hindi	1,270	Pali-Burmese and Burmese	302
Urdu	1,154	Malayalam	166

Gujarati	811	Assamese	121
Telugu	705	Arabic	104

And smaller numbers in thirty-nine other languages, besides 1,383 bilingual, 106 trilingual, and 18 polyglot books.

[TABLES 1 TO 10, PAGES 6 TO 116]

[No Statistics relating to Native States are available for this section.]

(Compiled from the Annual Reports on Public Instruction received from local Governments and Administrations)

For the definitions of the terms used in the tables, as given in the Bengal Education Code, see the eleventh issue of the Judicial and Administrative Statistics.

Number of Students

The total number of scholars in public and private institutions in British India in 1911-12 was 6,795,971. This represents an increase of 2,101,679 in the last decade, being at the rate of 40 per cent. Male scholars numbered 5,841,355 as compared with 4,221,870 ten years ago, and females numbered 954,616 as compared with 472,422. The increase is at the rate of 38 per cent in the case of male scholars and 102 per cent in the case of female scholars.

Number and Classification of Schools and Colleges

The total number of institutions in 1911-12 was 176,447, of which 160,334 were for males and 16,113 for females. The total number of villages served by these schools is 582,728, and the number of towns, i.e., places containing 5,000 inhabitants or upwards, is 1,594. Thus each institution for males serves nearly 4 towns and villages, and each institution for females serves 36 towns and villages. The number of students in each class of school or college classified according to the description of education imparted therein is as follows :—

	1902-03	1911-12

The total number of scholars, omitting those in Baluchistan in respect of whom details are not available, are distributed as follows :

	1902-03		1911-12
	Males	Females	Males	Females
Colleges, Secondary Schools, Special Schools, and Private Advanced Schools	642,507	46,988	1,107,699	92,399

Thus of the total number of male scholars 19 per cent, and of female scholars nearly 10 per cent are undergoing higher education.

The percentage of students to the population of school-going age, which is taken as 15 per cent of the total population, was 29 per cent in the case of males and 5 per cent in the case of females.

The increase in the number of students at Public Primary Schools in the last decade has been at the rate of 41 per cent. The attendance at Secondary Schools including Private Advanced Schools has increased by 57 per cent in the same period. Girls attending Middle Vernacular Schools in 1911-12 numbered 15,734 as compared with 34,862 attending High Schools and Middle English Schools combined.

Schools for special instruction extend over a wide range of subjects and their total number has increased from 1,228 to 6,205 in the last decade. The number of students has, at the same time, increased from 37,231 to 180,166. The number of students of the law schools has decreased from 53 to 10, while that of the students of engineering and surveying schools has increased from 643 to 926. In technical and industrial schools the increase has been from 5,193 to 12,262.

Stages of Instructions in Public Schools

The total number of scholars on the rolls of the general public schools, both secondary and primary, on the 31st March 1912, included 5,069,230 boys and 849,621 girls. Of these nearly 60 per cent of the boys and girls were in the lower primary stage reading printed books and 39 per cent of the girls were in a still lower stage not reading printed books.

Results of University Examination

The English Arts Colleges contain 77 per cent of the total number of students undergoing university education. This is nearly equal to the proportion ten years ago. The Oriental Arts Colleges showed a tendency towards decline in the number of students up to 1907-08, but since then there has been a marked improvement, the number in 1911-12 being 1,452, the highest in the last decade. The number of law students has increased in the last decade from 2,856 to 3,036; on the other hand the number of medical students has fallen from 1,568 to 1,396 the lowest in the decade. In the Engineering Colleges the rise in the number of scholars has been relatively large. The following statement shows the number of examinees for the attainment of the university degrees named, the number passed, and the race or creed of the passed scholars in 1911-12:

	Number of examinees	Number passed	Race or creed of passed scholars: Europeans and Eurasians	Indian Christians	Hindus: Brahmans	Hindus: Non-Brahmans	Muhammadans	Parsis	Others

It is interesting to observe the different proportion of the students attending the various classes of colleges who proceed to a degree. The proportion is highest in the case of law and lowest in the case of colleges for oriental learning. The following statement shows the average number

System of Management

More than three-fourths of the total number of schools and colleges in India are public institutions, i.e., the course of study conforms to the standard prescribed by the Educational Department or by the Universities, and they are either inspected by the officers of the Department or present pupils at public examinations held by the Department or by the Universities. These public institutions contain nine-tenths of the total number of students in India. Of the public institutions about 86 per cent (containing 89 per cent of the scholars) receive public aid. Direct public management, however, is but a small feature of the educational system of India, and these institutions altogether number only some 2,000. They include nearly one-third of the total number of colleges and about one-twelfth of special schools, but in other classes of schools the proportion managed directly by Government is insignificant. The number of institutions managed by local funds and municipal boards is very much higher and such institutions contain nearly a quarter of the total number of scholars on the rolls on the 31st March. More than half the institutions in India are under private management aided by Government or by local funds or by municipal boards.

Female Education

The ratio of girls to boys under instruction is about 1 to 6. Ten years ago it was about 1 to 9.

As regards creed, among Christians and Parsis the ratio of girls to boys is about 1 to 2, among Buddhists and Brahmans about 1 to 6, and among Muhammadans and non-Brahmans about 1 to 7.

As regards University education, the number of girls in Arts Colleges (279) is greater than in all the other colleges taken together. The number of girls studying in Medical Colleges (55), which is a little less than one-third of the number in Arts Colleges, comes next.

Of the girls attending schools for special education (26,358), as many as 3,017, or 8 per cent were in Technical and Industrial Schools, of whom 201 were Europeans and Eurasians, 1,372 Indian Christians, 928 Hindus, 186 Muhammadans, and 130 Buddhists. Two hundred and twenty-seven were at Medical Schools, the majority of them being Indian Christians.

Cost of Education

About two-thirds of the total expenditure can be assigned to different classes of educational institutions, and about one-third is treated as indirect expenditure on all classes of institutions

combined. The following statement shows what percentage of the total expenditure is incurred on each of the different classes of schools and colleges :—

About 52 per cent of the total expenditure in 1911-12 was met from taxation, i.e., provincial revenues and contributions from district boards and municipalities. About 28 per cent was met from fees, and the balance was provided by subscriptions, endowments, and miscellaneous receipts. These figures are supplied by Educational Officers and are prepared on a different basis from those that appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts.

The total expenditure has increased in the last 10 years from ₹4,44,00,000 to ₹7,87,00,000, i.e., by nearly 80 per cent. The increase in fees is about 65 per cent, while the increase from provincial revenues and local and municipal funds is 226 per cent. The average annual cost of educating each pupil in the different schools and colleges in British India during 1911-12 was as follows :—

There were, in 1911-12, 2,796 hostels or boarding-houses attached to colleges and schools with 1,07,383 residents. Of these 2,356 were for males and 440 for females with 83,455 and 23,928, respectively, in residence. The following statement shows the number of boarders attached to each class of schools or colleges :—

[TABLE 1, PAGE 119]

[No Statistics relating to Native States are available for this section]

(Compiled from figures supplied by local Governments and Administrations)

The following table shows the growth in the number of printing presses and in their output in the 32 years ending 1911-12. The figures in brackets represent, except in the case of 1911-12, percentages of increase (+) or decrease (—) in the stated year compared with the figure for the concluding year of the preceding decennium. Figures for 1911-12 together with percentages of increase or decrease compared with the figures for 1910-11 are also given.

	Presses	Newspapers	Periodicals	Books published
				In English or other European languages	In Indian languages (modern or classical)
1879-80 .	751	328	322	523	4,346
1889-90 .	1,465 (+ 95 %)	526 (+ 60 %)	302 (— 6 %)	917 (+ 75 %)	8,461 (+ 95 %)
1899-1900 .	2,153 (+ 47 %)	675 (+ 28 %)	465 (+ 54 %)	1,164 (+ 27 %)	6,724 (— 21 %)
1909-10 .	2,736 (+ 27 %)	726 (+ 8 %)	829 (+ 78 %)	2,112 (+ 81 %)	9,934 (+ 48 %)
1910-11 .	2,751 (+ 0·6 %)	658 (— 9 %)	1,902 (+ 129 %)	1,578 (— 25 %)	10,063 (+ 1 %)
1911-12 .	2,781 (+ 1·1 %)	659 (+ ·1 %)	2,269 (+ 19 %)	1,596 (+ 1·1%)	9,988 (— ·7%)

The number of Indian vernacular or classical books is still about six times as large as the number of books printed in English or in other European languages.

The provincial output of the printing presses in 1911-12 was as follows :—

	Newspapers	Other periodicals	English books	Indian books
Burma	50	57	31	304
Assam	12	4	1	26
Bengal	115	163	440	2,871
Bihar and Orissa	20	20	116	716
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh . .	141	98	312	1,259
Punjab	76	103	78	1,487
Bombay	139	303	76	1,341
Central Provinces and Berar . . .	15	15	21	141
Madras	87	1,499	518	1,822

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books which greatly exceed in number those produced in any other province. In the number of newspapers, however, the United Provinces stood first followed by Bombay, Bengal, Madras, and the Punjab in the stated order. As compared with the figures for 1910-11, the number of newspapers published in the United Provinces showed an increase of 33, but in the Punjab, Madras, and Bombay there were numerical decreases of 22, 17 and 2 respectively.

In the subjects of the books published in 1911 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second :

Religion	3,705	History and biography .	536
Poetry and the drama . .	2,142	Medicine . . .	443
Language	1,203	Mathematics and mechanics	306
Fiction	616	Philosophy	215
Law	597

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1911 in the principal languages :—

English	2,659	Punjabi	505
Bengali	2,129	Marathi	496
Hindi	1,169	Pali-Burmese and Burmese . .	240

Gujarati	799	Sindhi	132
Telugu	754	Arabic	111

And smaller numbers in forty-five other languages, besides 1,329 bilingual, 116 trilingual and 18 polyglot books.
